

Overview LifeWire is on a mission to end domestic violence and create a world where every person lives in a safe environment, free from oppression, and with the opportunity to thrive. Since 1982, LifeWire has helped more than 141,000 survivors break free from abuse, find safety, create a stable home for themselves and their children, and heal. As Washington State’s largest domestic violence organization and a nationally recognized leader in the field, LifeWire delivers a comprehensive range of services aimed at meeting the needs of survivors of domestic violence and their families.

Mission Statement LifeWire’s mission is to end domestic violence by changing individual, institutional and societal beliefs, attitudes and behaviors that perpetuate it.

Founded LifeWire, the first domestic violence agency in East King County, opened its doors in 1982 as Eastside Domestic Violence Program (EDVP).
