

Everyone needs a safe and healthy home to sustain well-being and fully contribute to our community. At LifeWire, we help adults, children, and youth who have been impacted by domestic violence to build safer, healthier homes by offering support, resources, and professional services including survivor advocacy, mental health therapy, legal advocacy, shelter, and housing. And we work with youth and young adults to develop healthy foundations early in life, preventing future violence.

LIFEWIRE serves more survivors of domestic violence each year and continues to build new and innovative programs, but there is still more to do:

- For each of the 230 families who found safer housing, we had to turn away five others who also needed housing to escape domestic violence.
- We partnered with five high schools and one college, but there are many more youth in our community who need skills to build healthy relationships.
- More than 4,000 people find hope and help each year through LifeWire's services, but we know there are thousands more surviving domestic violence who need support to live safer and healthier lives.

We need your help so that no one has to choose between staying in a violent home and becoming homeless, every young person learns what a healthy relationship looks like, and LifeWire's services are here for every survivor who needs them. Find out how you can help LifeWire at www.lifewire.org.

Management has elected to omit substantially all of the disclosures required by the generally accepted accounting principles as issued by the U.S. Financial Accounting Standards Board. If the omitted disclosures and the statement of cash flows were included in the financial statements, they might influence the user's conclusions about the company's financial position, results of operations, and cash flows. Accordingly, the financial statements are not designed for those who are not informed about such matters.

MISSION

LifeWire's mission is to end domestic violence by changing individual, institutional and societal beliefs, attitudes and behaviors that perpetuate it.

VISION

Domestic violence is a human rights issue. LifeWire envisions a world in which every person lives in a safe environment, free from oppression and with the opportunity to thrive.
